

Introduction

Do you find you feel that there aren't enough hours in the day? Are you feeling compromised that you are not covering everything the way you want to? Do you feel as if you are in a constant state of catch up? Or you just want to get more done in the time you have available?

If you want To Be in control, confident that everything is getting done and satisfied that you are focusing on the right things, then this is the workshop for you.

In business today, many of us are confronted with huge demands on our time. Faced with conflicting and competing priorities, only those who actually do the most important things, in line with the organisation's goals and their own, will succeed and drive sustainable success.

Workshop aims:

Through this workshop, you will:

- Get clear on how you currently 'react' towards managing your time and identify your ineffective habits
- Get focused on the tools and techniques that will give you back control
- Get started on applying what you have learned and developing new habits that will increase your effectiveness
- Apply the principles of time management using personalised systems that you can work with every day

- Increase your confidence as you gain more control over your personal and professional activities
- Manage communication overload and deal with distractions

Learning Process

We strongly believe that for participants to get the most out of this programme, it must occur as a process rather than a one off event. Therefore this programme follows a process that enables learners to assess their current time management practices, learn techniques and processes that will enable them to improve your effectiveness in managing their time and apply a system that will enable them to stay focused and on top of things as they move forward. Participants engage in pre-work in preparation for the programme. The pre-work is designed to encourage participants to increase their self awareness so the workshop content is more meaningful to them. The workshop facilitation is designed to promote experiential learning to enable the learning to stick.

Duration: This is a one day programme. Participants complete pre-work and after the programme, they email the facilitator to share how they are getting on with the practice of their time management techniques.
